PORTLAND, TURSDAY, JUNE 1, 1886. "RIVALRY," "RET HOLES," ETC.

In speaking of the efforts so often made by reifroad managers to "boom" certain towns in which they have "interests" in order to supplant other towns in which they have none, THE OR-EGONIAN mentioned a number of places in Oregon and Washington, among them Tacoma. To the Tacoma papers, which cannot endure any allusion to their town unless it comes as a "pull," and an extravagant one at that, this gave great offense. But they attempt to console themselves with the observation that they see in the remarks of THE OREHORIAN both an pprehension and prophesy of the complete ipee and extinction of Portland by the rising city of Tacoma.

We are surprised indeed to find the papers of Tacoma going wald over an incidental paragraph in an article published by a Portiand journal. Burely a city so well founded as they profess Taroma to be should not receive so deep a hart from so small a matter. Can it be because a breath has made their city they fear a breath will unmake the Are they "cowards" or in-It wears that look.

What THE ORREONIAN said was that the com what her descouded and was seathly an indicate center of Puget sound was seathly an old and established fown: that Seathly first he natural location for the city of Paget sound, as s proven by the fact that it outgrees all other paces in that country betweet white all that country and has maintained that lead in spite of the militad ever since, and that but for the desire of "inside" members of the railroad corporation to speculate in terminal teal estate, Scattle the natural point, would have been fixed upon as the terminal of the load. All of which is so patent that it would be madelies to dank to the respect was made sse to depuy to The remark was made merely for the purpose of citing an incident, in addition to many others given in the same article, of the efforts of railroad managers in Oregon and Washi gon to "bosm?" their own towns and "k.ii? others.

Nobody ever knew a town owned and boomed" by a railroad to be much of a town. Therefore if The Onegunian, having a dread of the eclipse and extinction of Portland by a city on Puget sound, wanted to see that danger averted, as it naturally would, certainly it would not be elarmed by the pretensions of Tacoma, but would rejoice that the railroad had attempted to push that place against Seattle, since the consequence could not be other than injury to the general interests of the Puget sound country and hindrance to the building up of a metropolis there. Again, what difference would it make to Portland, in the matter of alleged rivairy, whether the principal city were

The fact is that Puget sound is destined to be the center of large industries and the denot of heavy commercial instiness. This growth, like hat of the whole of the northwest, will be slow, but it is sure. Puget sound will have or should have the benefit of all its natural advantages, and of all that enterprise can do roward making the most of them. This is not going to "make a rat hole of Portland," as Tacoma papers fondly suppose, but will bring becents to Portland, by stimulating her energies. If the "fivalry" which the Tacoma papers talk about were likely to have a deadly on which the Doubland. to have so deadly an effect upon Portland, it certainly would be worse for Portland if all energies were concentrated at Seattle. In that case there would be a prospect of far more rapid growth of a large city on Puget sound. As it is, Tacoma's rival is Seat le, not Portland or San Francisco, and Seattle keeps strongly in

THE BLUE AND THE GRAY.

On Sunday last Memorial Day was celebrated at Austin, Texas, under the joint anspires of the G. A. H. and the "John B. Hood camp of Con-federate veterane." Geor W. Çable, a Confederate veteran, participated in the exercises of Menorial lay in New England and the Rev. Mr. Buckingbam, rector of the Ep scopal church at Rutland, Vt., conducted the religious services for the G. A. R. post of that town. When Garfield died an eloquent Texan told in his mer fal address, bow he once visited the conjectory at Madison. Wis., with a Confederate officer, who had lost his leg in the war, and how deeply both were affected at the sight of a number of graves of Confederate prisoners, who had died in hospital. These graves showed the same plous care as those of the Union soldiers and it was the work of the same hands.

The tears came into the eyes of the Confeder-The tears came into the eyes of the Confederate colonel as he turned and said to his companion, with deep emotion: "Sir, we have misunderstood these people; for the first time is not the war! feel that we are one people and that the stars of our divine deathry fought in their courses against us." This is all good, if with all due respect for the sincerity of the South and alimination for the magnificent valor, we do not confuse the two causes and forcet to we do not confuse the two causes and forget to teach our children that, while we are glad that the traditional Engish courage suffered no shame can stain side turing our civil war, our gallant life was nessentialess a desperate fighter for error and a civilization whose corner-stone was a barbarie and despote social system. We need not oppose the personalities of Union and Cofederate soldiers, we need not pit valor against valor, for there is thrilling proof of their honorable equality of sacrifice and bevoising but there can be no equality of flargs, there can be no cohenor of causes, for to a same soldier of the better their section. Union there is but one dag, but one cause. Too idea we warred for is not so slight that after digging the grave of the Confederacy we should both erecta monument on the grave and help, cry over the dead fabric of fully as "so young and so and atomate." If that is the moral of this fusing of Federa and Confederate Manyard, they are Memorial day ceremonies, how sharp is the sting of logal death; now barren the victory of the logal grave! In con-gress once Mr. Stamford of Alabama told a story of a seathern gentleman whose two some fell fighting on exposite sides in the civil war, and over whom he exected a monument with the inscription 'God knows which was right.' The plain mend of this story is that the only knows which sine was right-during the war, and that therefore we stoudt ail he sheat, now and forevel, so far as concerns any expression of opinion as to where stoud to I and eternal right forever, so far as concerns any expression of opinion as to where stood to I and eternal right during the tele flow. If the Scuth was and still is uncertain who was right and who was wrong in the war, the North has cover suffered from any such stood doubts. We didn't bridge the gulf between the sections with facchies off our slain, didn't più a debt mountain bigh upon our necke to sit down now in weakness and with sickly and cowardie centimathism writes across the face down now in weakness and with sickly and cowardly centineuthilism write across the face of Abraham Lincoln's monument the mean and spiritless legend, "God knows which was right." The South will write what it pleases on Jeff Davis's tomb, but the people of the North know which was right; they know that the government was right; that the Union armies were right; that the rebellion and its gallant but misguided soldiers were wrong. In we say of Cromwell as opposed to George the First; of Washington as opposed to George the Third,—do we say whimperingit: "God knows which was right:" We do not say anything as stupid as this to-day, not because the cavaliers were not as guilant as the Cromwellians, but beware not as guilant as the Cronswellians, but be-cause we know that human rights and popular liberty rode with the Roundbeads, even as they marched with Washington. And when we talk of Lincoin as opposed to liavis, we are not mag-nanimous, but implous, if we whine "God alone knows which was right." If a sweet and sound public opinton is halped by giving both hands with our hearts to every oath-keeping, peace-seeking, country-usualming Confederate, why is not that same public opinton made sweeter by sligmathing secession and state suwere not as gallant as the Cromwellians, but besweeter by stigmatizing secession and state suuremacy heresies and litting them hard at every

There is a manty association of the blue and the gray, and there is a stupid, aniverling coefficient that tries to bridge the impressible chasm cleft by God's hand between right and wrong; that refuses to look the political philosophy of rebellion storaly in the award call it crime. This is said in no

What was wirth fighting for during four years is worth laking about—not vindic-tively, not toastingly, but reverently, for-ever and forever. The war would have been a benefit to the South, if t had done been a benefit to the south, it that tone nothing more than lift a comparatively idle, sensual, purposeless people up to the level of human sperifice, even for an error. Sherman in 1853, in a letter to Lincoln, said the young bloods of the South before the war were: old horremen. A slave c vrlization mace a South emer's life end where the most in volous hou of youth usually begins, in circle and horses; and surely the call of honor, love, duty and sacrifice, oven for error, was better for them than that poor existence which Phillips described as "drinking whisky and chopping straw in salon us and stores and calling it

General Exspension of Buriness-Procession of the G. A. B. and the State Militia-Exercises at the Plaza and Tabernacle.

The weather for Memorial day was perfect. The emperature was warm-not hot—and s steady Progre blew from the Northwest. Every one was ted into the open air; and the city presented the appearance, except when the cemeleries, and more took theroselves to the woods and the suburbs generally. Buriness was almost entirely suspended. Flags bong at half-mast all over the city.

The appropriate motto, Fro Christo et Regno
Eins, in letters of gift, hangs, from the celling surrounded with a wrenth of evenguen.

The decorations this year are more instein and claborate than usual. Inc beavity festgoned walls with rover of green reachit; disponally from corner to corner, with there and there wreaths of grasses and terrs, and all inter spersed with bounted of marset flowers, form a scene beautiful to look upon.

WALDO OR STRAHAN.

POSTLAND, Oc., May 31.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE OREGONIAN:

In refurence to some of the postitions of your corcespondent "Real Justice" in his commonderation of this retoraine, I wish to say I have made inquiry concerning what has been inentioned as the case of "Teal vs. Dickinson et al." and the "Balch case," and learn that the former was a case between Joseph Teal, as plaintiff, c aimlog a tract of land in Portland, one fourth for Finself, and throsfourths or the Goldsmiths and Frank Dickinson and others as detendants, claiming the same land, which case was determined in 1883 by the supreme court, adversely a Tool and toldsmiths. By the "Ruch case" is meant a case entitled Walker vs. Goldsmith et al., which involves a question as to the partitiph of the same tract of land, which istitute case has been decided against Goldsmiths by Judge Stearns, in the state circuit court, and has been by Goldsmiths appealed to the supreme court when the Teal case was dedided, and no spiriton has yet been filled therein. And supreme court when the Teal case was deutled, and no apinion has yet been filed thereto. And i am informed that many cases heard at every term of that court since its organization and in the same condition.

condition. It seems to be generally understood and con-ected that it is the desire of the chairman of the democratic beautities to get a man on the supreme beach on whom he it take to can rely to smust the demoer the pomulties to get a man on the supreme demoer the pomulties to get a man on the supreme decision in the Teal case, which makes him so extremely anxious to elect Mr. Stralman that it is thought by a me of, the democrate that he is withing to sacrifice all the other candidates on the democratic taket for the success of Mr. Straham, As for Mr. Straham attorneyship for the Hogg raimon comporations, it is claimed by "Real Justice" that he has never boon the "Salaried active-net of the Oregon Pacific." Whether he has or not is quite timmzerfal. If paid by fees amounting to 8000 per year such payments would probably the succession of the Oregon Pacific. Whether he has or not successful to the successful that a successful the successful that a successful the interests of the successful the successful that sum. Bestdoor, the or no received a selary of that sum. Bestdoor, the or he racion to which was granted all the tide and march lands in Benton courty, and for which Mr. Straham lobbied through the last regular session of the Oregon legislative a bill attempting to rainfy and confirm such grant after it had beer forfeited by the corporation, is not the "Oregon Pacific." but the Williamstte", alley & Coastrairos dempany. And I understand there are other corporations, construction. Improvement, etc.. commented therewith as is usual with thunbergaring rainfoad corporations to be made and of which were and to year past nave been governed in legal matters in Oregon by the advice of Mr. Strat in.
